1.0 Overview

Uganda has experienced strong economic growth over the past two decades, and has made great strides towards improving the quality of life and access to services. In order to continue to promote pro-poor economic growth, the Government of Uganda (GoU) developed the National Development Plan (NDP) and a Joint Budget Support strategy as part of the implementation of the National Development Strategy (NDS).

The GoU recognizes the need for adequate data collection to effectively monitor outcomes of the National Development Strategy (NDS). For this purpose, the Uganda Bureau of Statistics (UBOS) is implementing the Uganda National Panel Survey (UNPS) program, with financial and technical support from the Government of Netherlands, and the World Bank Living Standards Measurement Study – Integrated Surveys on Agriculture (LSMS-ISA) project.

The UNPS is a multi-topic panel household survey that commenced in 2009/10. One of the primary uses of the UNPS is to inform policymaking in advance of the Budget, through descriptive reports that are made ready in time for the initial work on sector budget framework papers.

In order to measure socio and economic dynamics, panel was rolled to be done each year after 2009/10. This was followed by 2010/11 and 2011/12.

1.1 Survey Objectives

The UNPS aims at producing annual estimates in key policy areas and at providing a platform for experimenting with and assessing of national policies and programs. Explicitly, the objectives of the UNPS include:

1. To provide information required for monitoring the National Development Strategy, of major programs such as National Agricultural Advisory Services (NAADS) and General Budget Support, and also to provide information to the compilation of the National Accounts (e.g. agricultural production);
2. To provide high quality nationally representative information on income dynamics at the household level and provide annual information on service delivery and consumption expenditure estimates to monitor poverty and service outcomes in interim years of other national survey efforts, such as the Uganda National Household Survey (UNHS), Uganda Demographic and Health Survey (UDHS) and National Service Delivery Surveys (NSDS);
3. To provide a framework for low-cost experimentation with different policy interventions to e.g. reduce teacher absenteeism, improve ante- and post-natal care, or assessing the effect of agricultural input subsidies;

4. To provide a framework for policy oriented analysis and capacity building substantiated with the UGDR and support to other research which will feed into the Annual Policy Implementation Review; and
5. To facilitate randomized impact evaluations of interventions whose effects cannot currently be readily assessed through the existing system of national household surveys.

1.2 Survey Design

The UNPS is carried out annually, over a twelve-month period on a nationally representative sample of households, for the purpose of accommodating the seasonality associated with the composition of and expenditures on consumption. The survey is conducted in two visits in order to better capture agricultural outcomes associated with the two cropping seasons of the country. The UNPS will therefore interview each household twice each year, in visits six months apart.

Starting in 2009/10, the UNPS has been set out to track and re interview 3,123 households that were distributed over 322 enumeration areas (EAs), selected out of the 783 EAs that had been visited by the Uganda National Household Survey (UNHS) in 2005/06. The UNPS EAs covered all 34 EAs visited by the UNHS 2005/06 in Kampala District, and 72 EAs (58 rural and 14 urban) in each of the (i) Central Region with the exception of Kampala District, (ii) Eastern Region, (iii) Western Region, and (iv) Northern Region.

Within each stratum, the UNPS EAs were selected from the UNHS 2005/06 EAs with equal probability, and with implicit stratification by urban/rural and district (in this order), except for the rural portions of the ten districts that were oversampled by the UNHS 2005/06. In these districts, the probabilities were deflated, to bring them back to the levels originally intended. Since IDP camps are now mostly unoccupied, the extra EAs in IDP camps are not a part of the UNPS subsample. This allocation strives for reasonably reliable estimates for the rural portion of each region, and for the set of urban areas out of Kampala as a whole, as well as the best possible estimates for Kampala that can be expected from a subsample of the UNHS 2005/06. Therefore, the UNPS strata of representativeness include (i) Kampala City, (ii) Other Urban Areas, (iii) Central Rural, (iv) Eastern Rural, (v) Western Rural, and (vi) Northern Rural.

Prior to the start of the 2009/10 field work, 2 UNPS households were also randomly selected in each EA for the purposes of tracking baseline individuals that moved away from original locations since the UNHS 2005/06. In the UNPS 2010/11, the concept of Clusters instead of EAs was introduced. A cluster represents a group of households that are within a particular geographical area up to parish level. This was due to split-off households that would fall outside a particular EA but could still be reached and interviewed if they fell within the same parish as the EA.

The initial UNPS sample will be subject to three consecutive waves of data collection after which, parts of the sample will start to be replaced by new households extracted from the updated sample frames developed by the UBOS as part of the 2012 Uganda Population and Housing Census. In addition, the UNPS will fit within the Long Term Census and Household Survey Program and therefore both the questionnaires and the timing of data collection will be coordinated with the current surveys and census implemented by UBOS. To suit its multiple objectives, the UNPS comprises of a set of survey instruments, namely:

- Household Questionnaire
- Woman Questionnaire,
- Agriculture Questionnaire, (administered to the subset of UNPS households engaged in agricultural activities), and
- Community Questionnaire.

2 Survey Questionnaires – Review of Sections

As mentioned earlier, the UNPS had six questionnaires namely: Household Questionnaire; Woman Questionnaire; Agriculture Questionnaire; Fisheries Questionnaire; Community Questionnaire and Market Questionnaire. Each of these questionnaires is divided into a number of sections and the level of observation for each section varies accordingly.

Unlike 2009/10 where all the questionnaires were administered on paper, the UNPS 2010/11 and 2011/12 had its Household, Agriculture and Woman questionnaires administered using the CWEST application on a device called a UMPC. The questionnaire was preloaded on this device and as a result there was no need for field data entry for these 2 modules since CWEST captured the data during interviews.

The tables 1-4 below provides an overview of the sections of the Household, Agriculture, Community and Woman questionnaires, associated data files, and key identifiers.

2.1: Explanatory notes by section – Household Questionnaire

Section 1A: Household Identification Particulars

Information in this section was distributed by the Headquarters staff to the field teams before starting data collection. Names and codes pertaining to the selected Enumeration Areas (EAs) were provided by UBOS to the team leaders prior to fieldwork. An EA generally does not have its own name but is known by the name of the Local Council 1 (LC1) that is associated with it.

Section 1B: Staff Details and Survey Time

The Supervisors, interviewers and data entry operators were all required to record their particulars in this section. Time taken to conduct interviews was recorded. The data also include the date on which the household questionnaire was administered in full.

Section 2: Household Roster

The purpose of this section is to:

- (i) Identify all persons who are members of the household;
- (ii) Provide basic demographic information such as age, sex and marital status of each household member; and
- (iii) Identify any changes to household members since the first visit

The respondent for this section was mainly the household head. In the absence of the household head the next person who is acting as household head would be interviewed. It was a requirement that respondent must be a usual member of the household and should be capable of providing all the necessary information about other members of the household. Other household members also helped in providing information or details on particular questions concerning them.

In UNPS 2013/14, a household was defined as a group of people who have normally been living and eating their meals together for at least 6 of the 12 months preceding the interview. Therefore, the member of the household is defined on the basis of their usual place of residence.

Section 3: General Information on Household Members

This section captured general information on all members of the household specifically on:

- (i) Parents of household members who sometimes do not live in the same dwelling as the household members.
- (ii) The salient moves (migration status) made by members of the household.
- (iii) Malaria indicators: use and treatment of mosquito nets.

The respondents for questions in the first half of this section (columns (1) – (7)) were all members of the household below 18 years while the questions in the second half applied to all members of the household. To the extent possible each person was asked directly. If someone was not available or too young to answer then the household head, spouse, or another well-informed member of the household would answer these questions.

Section 4: Education

The objective of this section was to measure the level of education or formal schooling of all household members aged 5 years and above, and to collect educational expenditures associated with each. Information was mainly collected on (i) the literacy status of household members – i.e. member of the household who could read and write; (ii) the educational attainment of each respondent and the type of school attended; and (iii) amount spent on education of household member's during the past 12 months, among others.

Section 5: Health

This section collected information on illness and injuries among household members during the past 30 days, use of health facilities and medical expenses for treating the illnesses or injuries. The respondents for the section were all members of the household, but parents or a knowledgeable adult (preferably female) could answer for young children.

Section 6: Child Nutrition and Health

These questions were asked with a view of obtaining a better picture of the diversity of the child's diet. Only children aged from 0 to 59 months and living with a mother or caretaker in the sampled households are eligible for the questions. The questions were answered by the mothers /caretakers of the children because they are considered more knowledgeable about the children. Height and weight measures were obtained for all children aged 6 to 59 months using anthropometric equipment.

Section 8: Labour Force Status

This section acted as a screen to determine which respondents should be asked about employment and which should be asked the questions that address labor force participation, unemployment, and job search. It also determined the reason for absence for those people who had a job or business but were not at work the previous week. All household members aged 5 years and older were classified into three broad groupings i.e. employed, unemployed, and not in the labor force.

Employed persons were defined as those who were working at a paid job or business or who were working unpaid at a household business or farm for at least one hour during the reference week, or who did not work during the reference week but held a job or had a business from which they were temporarily absent.

Unemployed persons were classified as those individuals who did not work at all during the reference week and who were not absent from a job, but who actively looked for work during the past four weeks and were available to work in the reference week. Persons who were on layoff from a job to which they expected to return and were available to work during the reference week are also classified as unemployed, even if they did not actively look for work. The sum of the employed and the unemployed constituted the labor force. (Persons not in the labor force were those who were neither employed nor unemployed. They did not work, they were not absent from work and they did not actively look for work in the past four weeks).

Section 9: Housing Conditions, Water and sanitation

Data from this section was aimed at measuring the quality of housing occupied by the household currently. Information was collected on the type of dwelling, occupancy status, the physical characteristics of the dwelling, and access to basic services (including water, electricity and sanitation). A dwelling was defined as a building or a group of buildings in which the household lived. It could be a hut, a group of huts, a single house, a group of houses, an apartment, several one-room apartments, etc.

Section 10: Energy Use

Information obtained in this section aimed at measuring the access and utilization of energy fuels especially for lighting and cooking.

Section 11: Other Household Incomes

This section gathered information on income transfers i.e. all incomes of household members other than that from paid and/or self-employment during the past 12 months.

Section 12: Non-agricultural Enterprises/Activities

This section collected information the presence of non-agricultural household enterprises. It includes information income and employment derived from non-agricultural household enterprises. It identified which household member was responsible for each enterprise in terms of decision making and the allocation of income generated. It also covered the involvement of household enterprises in the credit market. The respondent for each enterprise was a member of the household best informed about the activities of the enterprise. An enterprise was defined as any undertaking which is engaged in the production and/or distribution of some goods and/or services meant mainly for the purpose of sale whether fully or partly.

Section 14: Household Assets

This section aimed at collecting data to estimate the value of household, farm and non-farm enterprise assets. It also collected information on ownership of assets.

Section 15: Household Consumption Expenditure

This section covered expenditures of the household with different reference periods depending on the frequency of purchases. It is separated into four parts which include: (a) food, beverages and tobacco; (b) non-durable goods and frequently purchased services; (c) semi-durable and durable goods and services; and (d) non-consumption expenditure.

The major emphasis of the section was mainly on consumption and not monetary expenditures. Although the two are very close, they are not the same. Household consumption expenditures in cash, kind or through barter were recorded for the household only. For bartered items the value of the item paid for (not the value one got in exchange) was recorded. Food, beverages or tobacco served to other members and guests in the household during the reference period were however included. The respondent for this section was the person (household member) who managed the household budget and was the best informed about the household's consumption expenditure.

Section 16: Shocks and Coping Strategies

Shocks were defined as events that happen suddenly. Usually they have a marked beginning and end. While they last for a short time, a few days or weeks, usually their effects are felt for a longer time. It was noted that a shock can be household specific or community wide. Examples of shocks include floods, rebel raids, livestock disease, fire, etc. For example, petty theft of household property was not considered as a shock.

Section 17: Welfare Indicators and Food Security

The Purpose of this section was to collect information on vital needs and living conditions of households during the last 12 months. It provided additional information to assess household welfare. Food security was defined as the availability of food and one's access to it. A household was considered food secure when its occupants did not live in or fear of starvation.

2.2: Explanatory notes by section – Agriculture Questionnaire

The purpose of the agricultural module in the household survey was to give a better descriptive picture of Uganda's farm economy, and deeper insight into factors affecting farm incomes. These would include a better understanding of the influence of farmers' resources and marketing opportunities on farm-household income, and some sense of how farmers' situation has changed in the past few years.

The agriculture module was administered in two visits to the selected households. During the first visit, agricultural production data was collected on the first cropping season of 2011(January – June 2011). The second visit collected agricultural production data on the second cropping season of 2011(July – December 2011).

The main or first agricultural season normally refers to the growing cycle of temporary crops that are planted and harvested in the first half of the year, occasionally extending up to the end of June. It thus covers the period between January and June. The second agricultural season is generally the period between July and December. It should be noted that seasons are directly related to rains and only indirectly related to the growing cycle of crops. The first rains are generally longer than the second rains. However, it is also noted that some areas in Uganda have only one significant agricultural season.

Section 1A: Household Identification Particulars

Information in this section was distributed by the Headquarters staff to the field teams before starting data collection. Names and codes pertaining to the selected Enumeration Areas (EAs) were provided by UBOS to the team leaders prior to fieldwork. An EA generally does not have its own name but is known by the name of the LC1 that is associated with it.

Section 1B: Staff details and survey time

The Supervisors, interviewers and data entry operators were all required to record their particulars in this section. Time taken to conduct interviews was also recorded.

Section 2: Current land holdings and land that the household has access through use rights

The purpose of this section was to have a complete list of all the parcels owned and/or operated as well as rented by the household during the first season of 2011 and the second season of 2011. This section captures information in two parts; Section 2 part A captures information concerning current land holdings and section 2 part B captures information pertaining to land that a household has access to through use rights. The questions were administered to households who had been involved in crop farming during the last completed and the current cropping seasons. Information was collected on agricultural land that these households had access during the reference period. Issues of land tenure status and land user rights were also investigated.

Section 3A & 3B: Agricultural and labour inputs

This section collected information on non-labor and labor input applications at the parcel-plot-level during the first cropping season (January-June 2011) and second cropping season (July – December 2011) in part A and B, respectively.

Section 4A & 4B: Crops grown and type of seeds used

The purpose of this section was to collect information on crop cover of parcels farmed by the household. Data was collected on crops planted by the household during the first cropping season (January-June 2011) and second cropping season (July –December 2011) on each plot on each parcel accessed by the household through ownership or user rights, in part A and B, respectively.

Section 5A & 5B: Quantification of Agricultural Production

Information on agricultural production is collected at the parcel-plot-crop-level separately for the first cropping season (January-June 2011) and second cropping season (July –December 2011) in part A and B, respectively. This section also collects data on how the household used the harvested produce.

Sections 6A, 6B & 6C: Livestock ownership

The data on the ownership of (i) cattle and pack animals, (ii) small animals, and (iii) poultry and other animals are solicited in sections 6A, 6B, and 6C, respectively. Each section collects information on dynamics of household livestock ownership at animal-type level over a given reference period, earnings from animal sales, and expenditures on animal purchases. If the household cared for animals that belonged to others, interviewers were instructed to record only ownership, sales and purchases of animals the household was entitled to keep, for instance the baby goats or sheep that the household keeps in return for caring the flock.

Section 7: Livestock Inputs

The purpose of this section was to estimate expenditure on inputs on livestock i.e. the expenditures necessary to raise the animals. This ranges from breeding, feeding, watering housing, and animal health expenses incurred to raise the animals.

Section 8: Livestock Products

This section collected information on the production and sales of livestock by-products. The reference period was generally last 12 months for live stocks and three months for poultry (eggs).

These are covered in different sections (8A-8E) including production of (Meat, Milk, Eggs, Dung and Animal power) respectively.

Section 9: Extension Services

The section collected information on agricultural technology and extension services. It covered access to extension services and access to and demand for agricultural technology. Extension workers were defined as individuals employed by the government or non-governmental organizations who work as an agricultural development agents for contacting and demonstrating improved farming methods to farmers. They are responsible for organizing, disseminating, guiding and introducing technical methods in agricultural production directly to farmers, and for facilitating farmers coming into contact with cultivation methods to promote agricultural production.

Section 10: Farm Implements and Machinery

This section collected information on agricultural implements and machinery. It collects information in regard to ownership and estimated value both in cash and in kind of the implements and it has a reference period of 12 months.

2.4: Explanatory notes by section – Community Questionnaire

The community survey aimed at collecting information relating to communities residing in the sampled EAs. The administrative unit for collection of community data was mainly the LC1, although there were specific questions for the Sub-county Chief. The community survey information was collected by interviewing key informants within the institutions of interest. These included community members and heads of selected facilities.

Section 1: Community Identification Particulars

Most of the information in this section was obtained from headquarters by field teams before starting data collection. A provision was made to record details for each of the subsequent 4 sectors on which data was collected. These included names of respondents and responses status for each sector.

Section 2: Availability of services within the community

The purpose of this section was to obtain general information on the social infrastructure nearest to the community. Information was collected from community leaders. The social facilities on which data was collected included schools/other education facilities, banks, markets, agricultural and fisheries services, police and army facilities, various types of health facilities, water and sanitation facilities as well as works and transport services.

Section 3: Education (Primary)

Information for this section was provided by a knowledgeable school official preferably the headmaster or someone nominated by him/her. Data was collected on both the most popular and the nearest primary schools. These schools on which data was collected were not necessarily located within the LC1 covered.

Section 4: Health services

In this section, information was collected on the most commonly used public and private health facilities. The respondent for this section was an authorized or knowledgeable health official at the facility preferably the head of the facility. The health facility targeted would be a place that had qualified doctors/nurses/medical attendants for treating patients including dressing and emergency attention facilities and would in addition be selling medicines to patients. Individual doctors, practitioners, etc, doing only consultation, with very limited supply of medicines were excluded. However, Doctors with moderate treatment and medical attention facilities were included.

Section 5: Works and Transport

The respondent for this section was the sub-country chief. Information was mainly collected on the availability, use and maintenance of works and transport infrastructure.

Section 6: Community Characteristics, Groups, needs and resources

The respondent to this section is a group of community members. Information is collected on the number of households in the community and the how the land is used. Information is also collected on the different community groups, NGOS working within the community, the community needs, actions and achievements as well as communal resource management.

2.5: Explanatory notes by section – Woman Questionnaire

The intention of the Woman module in the household survey was to gather information relating to knowledge and use of contraceptives among women as well as their birth history. This questionnaire was administered to all women aged 15-49 years in the households.

Section 1a: Household identification particulars

Information in this section was distributed by the Headquarters staff to the field teams before starting data collection. Names and codes pertaining to the district and selected Enumeration Areas (EAs) were provided by UBOS to the team leaders prior to fieldwork. An EA generally does not have its own name but is known by the name of the LC1 that is associated with it. Name, line number and household code were also provided.

Section 2A: Contraception

Information on contraceptives in the survey was collected by asking females in the households within the reproductive age of 15-49 years to name the different ways or methods that one would use to avoid or delay getting pregnant. The interviewers would then describe the methods mentioned to the respondent in case she failed to mention any spontaneously. They would go further to ask the respondent if they have ever used each of the methods and the ones that they are currently using with their partner.

Section 2B: Birth History

The purpose of this section was to obtain information on the birth history of eligible women in the household (15-49 years). Information was mainly collected on the number of children ever born whether dead or alive as well as birth information on last child born in the last five years (whether living or dead).

3 Other related instructions/codes

3.1: Area Measurement using Global Positioning System (GPS)

The GPS was mainly used in measuring parcels owned and/or operated by the selected households located within the EA and crop plot area for the respective cropping season of 2011. The GARMIN 12 hand-held Global Positioning System (GPS) equipment was used. The GPS equipment is in principle a high precision digital watch combined with a signal receiver. The field supervisors were responsible for ensuring availability of fully charged batteries for the GPS equipment and also ensuring that they were handled with great care and stored in a safe place when not in use. Details on GPS equipment were well documented and rigorous training about use of GPS was given to the interviewers before actual data collection.

4 UNPS 2013/14 Panel Weights

This section presents a general description of the steps involved in the construction of panel weights for the UNPS 2013/14. The UNPS has two broad analytic goals. The first is to track the same sample of people from 2005/06 to 2013/14 to see how their lives have changed. The first goal is met by revisiting the same cases in each wave. Two-thirds of the original panel households (3200 household) were followed up in 2013/14 wave. The second is to provide a cross-sectional snapshot of the Ugandan household population. The second goal, however, necessitates the incorporation new households and individuals in each wave to account for the changing population.

The UNPS addresses this conflict by allowing for the inclusion of a sub-sample of split-off households in the wave and refreshing a third of the sample. The survey covers all split-off core members of the households. The core members includes head spouse and children of the household head who were part of households in 2005/2006 that were interviewed in 2005 survey and were selected for the 2013/14 round of data collection, but who are not living in the household at the time of the 2013/14 survey visit are tracked to their new location. If found, they are interviewed, along with the members of their new household. This methodology allows new units to enter into the sample. Split off households core members then remain part of the core sample during subsequent rounds. The approach of refreshing the sample does offset the loss of representativeness, as those new population members who do not live in households with those eligible for selection in 2005 have chance of selection.

The methodology described here builds upon published documentation from established panel surveys, such as the Panel Study of Income Dynamics [PSID], conducted since 1968 by the Institute for Social Research at the University of Michigan; and the British Household Panel Survey [BHPS], whose first 13 waves were conducted between 1991 and 2003 by Institute for Social and Economic Research at the University of Essex.

Sample persons

Under the revised UNPS longitudinal weight computation algorithm, a non-zero positive weight value is assigned to each cooperating UNPS sample person. Each interviewed household that includes one or more sample persons receives a positive, nonzero household weight.

Non-sample persons

The UNPS is designed to be a longitudinal study of individual and families. Each year, individual data are collected for non-sample persons who enter a UNPS household through marriage or residency. Data for non-sample persons presents a problem for longitudinal analysis since the time series for these individuals is left censored at the date at which they entered the UNPS household.

Re-appearers and re-contact persons

UNPS assigns the last available positive weight, called the reference weight, to sample persons who appear in the study after being nonresponse in prior waves. There is also a possibility of a bias in assuming that each sample person assigned a positive weight at time t has the requisite data to conduct a weighted longitudinal analysis for the multi-year interval $(t-k,t)$. Depending on the time interval of interest, the re-appearers /re-contacts may not, in fact, have the required data for the previous year(s). Researchers who are conducting longitudinal analysis of the UNPS data are encouraged to check how many cases are excluded from the analysis due to nonresponse for an entire wave or have item missing data for key variables

Methodological Approach to the Longitudinal Weight Construction

UNPS longitudinal weights are inverse probability weights. In each year weight construction for the UNPS household and individual weights follows a two-step procedure.

- a) Begin with the “base weights” or those calculated during the previous round of the survey;
- b) In the second stage, individual longitudinal weights are constructed for all individuals who ever participated in the study.
- c) In the third stage, the household weight is calculated as the average of the individual weights of all the household members—both sample and non-sample participating in the study in that year.

The 2013/2014 weights are “carry-over” weights. The last attrition adjustment of the UNPS longitudinal individual weights was done in 2011/2012 and thus, the construction of the 2013 individual weights starts with the 2011 longitudinal weight as the basis. For sample persons who were interviewed in both 2011 and 2013, the 2013 individual weights were assigned by carrying forward the 2011 longitudinal weight. For sample persons who were interviewed in 2013 but not in 2011, the most recent non-zero individual weight or “reference weight” for the case was carried forward as the 2013 individual weight. All “non-sample” individuals in the panel receive a zero (0) value for their longitudinal weight. The UNPS provides an optional cross-sectional weight that is designed for single wave analysis of all cases in the UNPS individual data. The UNPS cross-sectional weight is a positive weight for all sample and non-sample members of interviewed UNPS households (see Heeringa, et al., 2011). For sample new-borns under 2 years of age in 2013, the 2013 individual longitudinal weight was calculated as the average of head's and spouse's individual weight in 2013. If a UNPS sample person moved into a UNPS household during the period between 2011 and 2013 and they had no existing reference weight, that sample individual was assigned a new individual weight equal to the average of all positive 2013 individual weights in the household unit. Once individual longitudinal weights had been constructed for each sample person interviewed in 2013, the 2013 longitudinal household weight was computed as the average of the positive individual weights for sample persons and the zero-value weights for the non-sample persons in the household. For example, consider a 2013 UNPS household that consisted of a young married couple in which the female spouse was a UNPS sample person and had an individual longitudinal weight of 60. Her new spouse was UNPS “non-sample” and therefore is assigned a “0” value for his longitudinal individual weight. The 2013 household weight for this two-person household is $(60+0)/2=30$. Figure 1 is a simple schematic that illustrates the dynamic process of household level weighting for four waves of data collection. At the baseline wave, household “A” and “B” are chosen to the sample. Households “C” and “D” were eligible for probability sample selection at baseline but were not chosen. Over the next four waves, there are “split-offs” from sample households, marriage or new household formation by members of original sample and non-sample household members. At each wave’s change in household composition the household weights, Wt_hh , are recomputed as the average of the current individual weights for the sample and non-sample persons that comprise the household unit. Note from the final column that the sum of all household weights constructed in this fashion remains consistent with the total number of all household units in the hypothetical dynamic population. Unlike the 2013 UNPS individual weight which is available in both the longitudinal form (sample persons only) and cross-sectional analysis form (sample and non-sample persons have non-zero weights), there is only one version of the 2013 UNPS household weight. The longitudinal household weight can be used for cross-sectional analysis of UNPS household data

The weights are developed in eight steps:

- 1) incorporate the probability of selection into the UNPS;
- 2) derive fair-share weights for composition changes;
- 3) pool the weights in (i) and (ii) together;
- 4) derive attrition adjusted weights for all individuals, including split-off¹ households, then aggregate these weights to the household level;
- 5) Post-stratify the pooled weights to known population totals.

Each of these steps in discussed in detail below.

Base Weights from 2013/14 Sample

Since the UNPS 2013/14 sample is a two-stage stratified cluster sample, sampling weights was calculated based on sampling probabilities which was calculated separately for each sampling stage and for each cluster. We use the following notations:

¹ For the purposes of this note, ‘parent’ refers to the household found at the same location as the previous round of data collection, and ‘split-off’ refers to new households entering the sample through an individual originally resident in a parent household during a previous round.

- P_{1hi} : sampling probability of the i^{th} cluster in stratum h
- P_{2hi} : sampling probability within the i^{th} cluster for households
- P_{hi} : overall sampling probability of any households of the i^{th} cluster in stratum h

Let a_h be the number of clusters selected in stratum h for the UNPS 2013, M_{hi} the number of households according to the sampling frame in the i^{th} cluster, and $\sum M_{hi}$ the total number of structures in the stratum h . The probability of selecting the i^{th} cluster in stratum h for the UNPS 2013 is calculated as follows:

$$P_{1hi} = \frac{a_h M_{hi}}{\sum M_{hi}}$$

Let L_{hi} and g_{hi} ($g_{hi}=10$ for all h and i for UNPS2013) be the number of households listed and selected in the i^{th} cluster in stratum h . The probability for selecting a household in the i^{th} cluster is calculated as follows:

$$P_{2hi} = \frac{g_{hi}}{L_{hi}}$$

The overall selection probability of each household in cluster i of stratum h is therefore the production of the selection probabilities:

$$P_{hi} = P_{1hi} \times P_{2hi} = \frac{a_h g_{hi} M_{hi}}{L_{hi} \sum M_{hi}}$$

The design weight for each household in cluster i of stratum h is the inverse of its overall selection probability:

$$W_{hi} = 1 / P_{hi}$$

Design weight was adjusted for household non-response and as well to get the sampling weights for households.

The base weight calculation was based on the 2014 population and housing census mapping which were done in 2012.

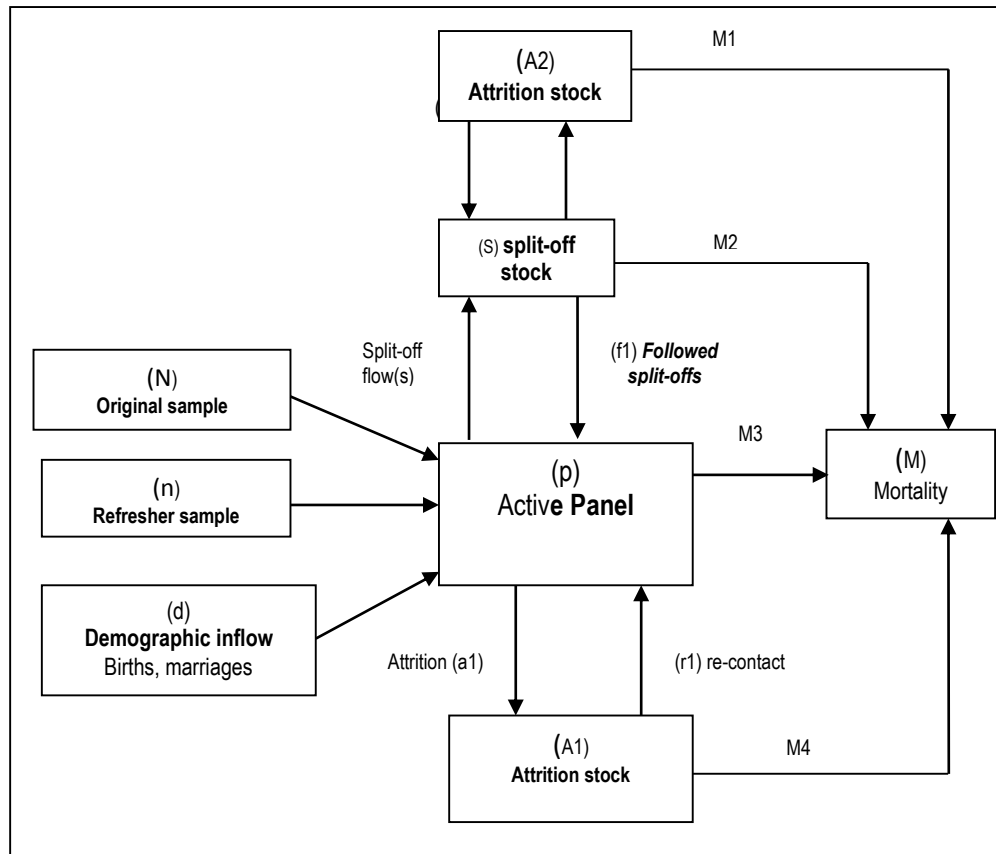

The steady-state panel design is depicted in Figure 1. Flows of people into the panel come from three sources: the original 2005 sample (N); the 2013 refresher sample (n), which is described below; and births and marriages in existing households (d). The intergenerational element is represented by children who split off as adults to form their own household units (s). Because of the follow-status rules (f_1 , f_2), success in bringing in new households (i.e., boosting f_1 , f_2), strategies to minimize attrition (a_1 , a_2), and re-contacting (r_1) households refusing to be interviewed or not located (A_1 and, A_2) in previous waves, the UNPS active panel sample (P) has almost remained the same despite losses due to mortality (m_1 , m_2 , m_3 , m_4) and attrition from the active panel. Table 1 shows the summary statistics linked to individuals in the panel data.

Table 1: Summary Statistics

Status	Number of individuals
Recent exit	757
Resent entry persons including refreshed sample	7,741
Re-entry/re-contact persons	328
Persons that were found in 2011/2012 and 2013/2014	9,374
Total	18,200

Attrition Correction Factor

All household panel surveys must tackle the problem of attrition, sample members selected for follow-up interviews which cannot be located and/or interviewed. The methodology used to adjust weights for attrition in the UNPS follows Rosenbaum & Rubin (1984). We use predicted response probabilities from a logistic regression model based on the covariates to form the weighting classes or cells. This approach has also been adopted in the PSID; see for example, Gouskova (2008).

The attrition correction in the case of the UNPS needs to take into account two distinct sources of attrition: entire households that are not found and split-off individuals that are selected for tracking but not found. The two potential options for the calculations are (1) to treat the split-off households as household heads and do the calculations at the level of the household, or (2) to treat the households that are not found as individuals and perform the calculations at the individual level. The first option is problematic as the characteristics of household heads are dissimilar to the characteristics of split-offs (see table 6). Therefore in the UNPS, the second methodology was employed.

For attrition adjustments similar procedure were used as for the previous waves(2009/10, 2010/2011 and 2011/12 panel surveys).

Post-stratification

To reduce the overall standard errors, and weight the population totals up to the known population figures, a post-stratification correction is applied. Based on the projected number of households in Kampala and in the urban and rural segments of the four main regions (central, eastern, northern and western), adjustment factors are calculated. This correction also reduces overall standard errors (see Little et al, 1997). The final weight calculations are the product of the (i) base weight, the attrition correction, and the post-stratification adjustment. Prior to the attrition correction, weights are trimmed at the two percent level.

For cross-sectional estimates of population dynamics based only on the UNPS 2013.14 data, the data users must use the variable wgt_X as part of GSEC1.dta of the UNPS 2013/14 package for household weight. This variable includes sampling weights for original as well as split-off and refreshed households and is generated as a result of the procedures detailed above. As noted above, the UNPS strata of representativeness include (i) Kampala City, (ii) Other Urban Areas, (iii) Central Rural, (iv) Eastern Rural, (v) Western Rural, and (vi) Northern Rural. The variable stratum as part of the GSEC1.dta of the UNPS 2013/14 data package captures these. The variable wgt part of GSEC1.dta of the UNPS 2013/14 package for panel households was computed only for the interviewed both in 2011/2012 and 2013/14.
