

SAR-GIL Policy Tools Mapping - Expert Rankings - Bangladesh

Field	Question	Answer
Introduction
note_intro1	The South Asia Region Gender Innovation Lab is working on a review of policy priorities and policy tools to address constraints to women's economic empowerment in Bangladesh. An estimated 31 million women of working age are not in the labor force, and this has a variety of negative impacts for the society and the economy. We have conducted an extensive review of the existing quantitative evidence on various policy tools and mapped them into policy priorities. To understand how the evidence maps to policy priorities of World Bank experts, we request your help! We are looking to understand what you consider as policy priorities for improving women's labor force participation and enabling women to generate higher incomes in Bangladesh. To do so we would like to request that you complete this survey. The survey is anonymous and will take 2 minutes.
