STUDY TYPE

Other Household Survey [hh/oth]

ABSTRACT

The aim of the survey was to assess displaced people's access to protection support during the pandemic and absence of in-person services. To do so, the survey assessed awareness and usage of major communication and information channels between refugee communities and UNHCR, identified unaddressed protection issues amongst respondents, and asked about awareness and use of alternative sources for support. The survey targeted registered refugees in the greater Jakarta area as in-person services were suspended for significantly longer here than elsewhere in the country. 426 responses were gathered using IVR (Interactive Voice Response). Only refugees with an active phone number registered were included in the sample. The results paint a picture of these three topics separately as well as identify hidden caseloads and their existing support opportunities.
