If the respondent gets it wrong, explain: Each of these pieces below (point to the possible answers) is the right shape to fill the space , but only one of them is the right pattern. Number 1 is not the right pattern, there aren't any dots. Number 3 is nearly right, but the number of dots is wrong (count the 3 dots that make up the height in the figure and contrast with the 2 dots that make up the height in number 3).

Only one is right, can you point to it? (repeat the explanation until the respondent gets it right)

This is the final example (show card #A5). Can you point to the piece you think is right?

If the respondent gets it wrong, explain: Each of these pieces below (point to the possible answers) is the right shape to fill the space , but only one of them is the right pattern. Number 2 is not the right pattern. Number 4 is nearly right, but the number of flowers is wrong (count the 3 dots that make up the length in the figure and contrast with the 2 dots that make up the length in number 4).

Only one is right, can you point to it? (repeat the explanation until the respondent gets it right)

Now we'll start the final 9 puzzles. I am no longer able to answer your questions. Remember to take your time and look carefully at the pieces

1	Raven's 1 – A10  Look carefully at the 6 pieces. Can you point to the one that completes the puzzle?	Enumerator to record the number corresponding to the box selected by the respondent. without expressing approval or disapproval whether the answer is right or wrong.	<input type="text"/>

Now we are going to do a short game to measure your concentration. For this part of the test, your task is to identify the number that is repeated. You do not have to count the number of times it is repeated. I will give you a few examples:

If you see 3333, you say 3

If you see 22222, you say 2

If you see 6, you say 6

Do you understand?

I will be timing you, but I will also be keeping track of your mistakes. So please try to state the number of objects as quickly as possible without making mistakes. Let's do some examples first (use card #20):

77

Do you understand?

Now we will do the real game. Remember to go as fast as possible without making too many mistakes. When I hand you the page and say start, you should begin right away. Do you have any questions? Are you ready?

Here the enumerator should choose card #1, and place the sheet face down. Start the voice-recorder, turn the sheet over, and immediately say "Please begin."

Thank you for playing. For this second part of the test, your task is to identify the number of objects in each row. You do not have to name the object itself. I will give you a few examples:

ASPIRATIONS AND PROFESSIONAL EXPECTATIONS

We are now going to ask questions about your aspirations (the ideal goals you would like to achieve) and your expectations (what you are expecting to achieve) about your professional and family life.

When asking about your aspirations (i.e. what you would like to do or have), we would like to hear your ideal answer, although it might be unattainable, e.g.: the income level would you like to reach in 10 years, even if you know you will never be able to earn such a high income.

When asking about your expectations, I am asking about what you are expecting to achieve, considering your current situation, e.g.:

the monthly income you are expecting to earn in 10 years, considering your level of education, ambitions, family constraints, etc.
