[Only fill this section if respondent never heard of the BRAC adolescent club]

Enumerator – reads a script describing the idea of the programme in detail

“BRAC is considering to start up a club for adolescent girls in your community. This adolescent center is a space of adolescent girls’ own and they come to spend time with their peers, to socialize, to interact, to share each one’s experiences and to get support on various problems of their lives. In these centers adolescents will read and borrow books, magazines and play indoor games. Given the importance of networking opportunities in girls’ lives, the club will become supportive social space for different groups of adolescents and gives recognition in their communities. These centers also will work as training venues for the various skill development sessions.” Now I would like to ask you what you think about joining such a club ...
